New in Town...

Robert Hurst, Artist

Robert Hurst's studio, known as Evoked Expressions, is in Norval, where he is relishing village life after many years of working in Manhattan.

Robert has lived here for three years and in the last six months has expanded his art lessons to include both adults as well as children from age 7 to 16. He works exclusively in acrylics, with an emphasis on textured surfaces, which results in most unusual pictures.

Robert has produced a great deal of work for hotels in Dubai and the United Kingdom and his experience as an interior designer in the United States stands him in good stead.

Robert is also publishing a coffee table book in November, as well as a calendar. Besides his busy life with the paint brush, Robert is well-known as a florist who specializes in wedding flowers.

Roper Galloway, Band Manager

The newly formed Halton Hills Concert Band is still in its infancy, but this baby promises to make beautiful music around town before too long.

Band manager Roper Galloway began his lifelong hobby as a musician when he played the drums in the Boys' Brigade in Glasgow when he was 12 years old. When he was old enough, he joined the band of the Highland Light Infantry and upon emigrating to Canada he joined the band of the Lorne Scots Regiment and not only continued to play the drums, but took up the tuba as well!

Upon the disbandment of the Lorne Scots band, Roper decided the time had come to strike up the band once more, and so the Halton Hills Concert Band was born. It has been rehearsing for eight months now and meets at the Presbyterian Church in Norval on Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. It is conducted by a talented musician, Daniella Baryla, and new members are more than welcome to join.

Ken Hall, Sculptor

Ken Hall is a relative newcomer to Georgetown, but he has immersed himself in the cultural life of the town, both as a working artist and as a volunteer in helping to promote the arts.

Ken's relief work features a unique blend of carved stone and painting.

Ken started carving stone by undertaking commissions for pet portraits. His work has since grown to include a full line of natural and abstract sculpture, using steel, wood and concrete as well as the original stone. He also does custom architectural work, such as mantelpieces, fountains and more.

Ken's will be showing his work at the Autumn Art Sale at the McMichael Canadian Art Collection in Kleinburg from Oct 23rd - 25th, one of only 4 sculptors selected from hundreds of entries! Ken's work can also be seen at the Artisans' Attic on Main Street in Georgetown, and at his home studio on 45 Market Street.
